

Job Specification: General Manager, Philippines

Overview of reach52 and Our Work

reach52 is a social enterprise which aims to bring universal basic healthcare services to communities in low-access, developing regions through an innovative service model and technology platform. Our approach focuses on leveraging existing community facilities (such as shops, churches, schools, etc.) and people to use a key technology platform to help deliver basic healthcare services to their fellow citizens. This allows core health services to be distributed deeper into communities where traditional healthcare services are unable to reach (such as Barangay Health Centres), giving basic support locally but also providing a navigation service where patients are able to find local clinics, purchase affordable quality medication, understand financing options (PhilHealth, PCSO, etc.) and connect them to regional and national healthcare facilities.

Overview of the Role reach52 is growing rapidly in the Philippines. We would like to hire an experienced, confident and resourceful individual to lead our Philippines operations. The successful individual will help to refine the existing strategy and partnerships roadmap, and oversee implementation, service delivery and general operational management in partnership with the global leadership team (based in Singapore).

This will be a demanding, hands-on role, overseeing the conceptualisation and strategy for our launch, to piloting and set up, and then all core tenets of reach52's service (technology, health education and outreach, marketplace services and commercial operations) as well as ongoing management of service delivery (reporting, escalations, geographical expansion, finance/operations). This is a strategic role, looking at new regions to grow into and working with senior stakeholders from across the public and private healthcare sector to build, maintain and increase the support for our projects. You will have the full support of the founders and board, but this is an opportunity for you to implement your experience, knowledge and business abilities.
